those that couldn't get proper footwear because of economic and societal challenges they faced," said Silverman. "The homeless in the Twin Cities are at significant risk given our winter weather. Snow and ice increase the risk of injury from slips and falls and the temperatures can cause frostbite if proper footwear is not available. As an ankle & foot specialist, I wanted to help."

Historically the event has provided nearly 500 needy individuals with socks, shoes and a professional medical examination, all at no charge.

About Our Hearts to Your Soles

Seven years ago Matthew Conti and his father Dr. Stephen Conti, an orthopedic surgeon created the unique non-profit organization known as "Our Hearts to Your Soles." Matt is currently managing the expansion of the organization into a nationwide network.

With help and support from Soles4Souls and Red Wing Shoes, each November, Our Hearts to Your Soles screens, fits and provides footwear to thousands of homeless men and women.

The Minnesota chapter of Our Hearts to Your Soles relies on local support for success. Minnesota Prosthetics and Orthotics, Silverman Ankle & Foot and Red Wing Shoes have once again generously provided this year's financial backing.
